

Lead Others to Success Through Coaching

DESCRIPTION

Discover powerful skills to dramatically improve your ability to influence those you lead to greater results in their business and personal lives. This workshop will equip you with both the knowledge and the skills to:

- Learn the skill of coaching to build better relationships with those you lead.
- Coach others to success – rather than tell them what to do.
- Empower others to sharpen their ability to solve problems and achieve results.

OUTLINE

This half-day fun, interactive and practical workshop uses powerful exercises, tools and techniques to show you how to lead an influence through coaching.

It covers:

- Understanding how our conscious and sub-conscious mind functions
- Discover how to be able to lead another person in deep reflection
- Exercise how to be able to improve another person's performance in an area you don't even master

BENEFITS

After attending the training you will:

- Build better relationships within your work environment
- Be a better leader
- See success with people you lead
- See more innovation and results within your team

You will be presented with a certificate of completion issued by the John Maxwell Team.
